

Few African girls go to high school

About half of girls in sub-Saharan Africa transition from primary to secondary school.

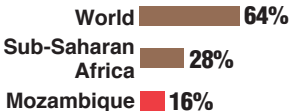

Making the transition

Percent of girls going from primary to secondary school

Enrolled in high school

Number of female students enrolled as a percentage of eligible population

Mozambique

Nearly one in five girls marry before age 15

